ESTIMATE OF 1300 DEAD IN WEST INDIES

Governor of Porto Rico Doesn't Ask Martial Law

New York, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The known dead of the tropical hurricane today stood at 621. It was estimated that more than 1,300 persons had perished.

BULLETIN

New York, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Brigadier General Hugh A. Drum, Commander of the First Division, U. S. A., was ordered to Porto Rico today to take charge of the hurricane relief work for the Army. He will sail tomorrow on the U. S. S. Bridge.

The Bridge is being loaded at the Brooklyn navy yard with Red Cross food and shelter supplies. Three Red Cross workers and two doctors will sail on the Bridge.

San Juan, Porto Rico, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Despite the insistence of citizens that martial law affords the quickest and most effective means for alleviating distress and inaugurating proper sanitary measures to overcome the effects of last week's hurricane, Governor Horace Towne today advised Washington that he did not believe the situation called for so drastic a measure.

The citizens complain that while San Juan still has last Thursday's garbage and later accumulations in the streets, and all available manpower is needed for sanitary measures as well as for clearing roads in the interior, large forces of convict laborers today continued to lay sod in the new public park here and to repair the damaged wall of the Governor's palace.

Further check of the storm ravages showed that the estimated property damage of $100,000,000 was not exaggerated. A retabulation of the lists of dead and injured was started, with no indication that the total of 1,000 killed would be diminished.

700,000 HOMELESS

San Juan, Porto Rico, Sept. 18.—(AP)—In the face of a steadily mounting death toll, Porto Rico labored today to care for 700,000 persons left homeless by the tropical hurricane until help could come from the outside. Half of these homeless were estimated to be hungry and without visible means of support.

The toll of known dead jumped from 253 to 300 when advices came from three towns which had been isolated. Doctors and those familiar with conditions estimated that the total deaths would be more than 1,000.

Poor country folk were endeavoring to patch together their damaged homes, using stones for hammers and bent nails drawn from the wreckage. Men, women and children worked together. Noah Sheppard, an agent for the Federal Land Bank, who travelled across the island from Ponce, said he saw no one crying or quitting. One of the greatest needs, he thought, was nails and hammers.

Sheppard estimated that 80 per cent of the homes in the rural districts which he crossed had been damaged.

Despite the staggering blow sustained by the island's inhabitants, they were determined today to start over again and build anew on the rich soil which has been the basis of Porto Rico's wealth.

The story of a telephone operator's heroism was reported from Coamo where nine perished. Felicia Cordero, a woman, was stuck at her switchboard giving warning and aid until she was killed.

An infant at Humacao was torn from its mother's arms by the wind and hurled 200 feet to death.

FRENCH ISLANDS HIT

Paris, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The fury of the tropical hurricane which swept the West Indies on Thursday is estimated by the Governor of Guadeloupe, French West Indies, to have taken a toll of 300 lives there. In a report to the Minister of Colonies he said 235 bodies had already been recovered.

It was feared that when the full toll became known, however, it would mount beyond the 300 mark. He reported that 60 were dead in Pointe a Pitre, which contains nearly one-fifth of the total population.

CITY COUNCIL TO MEET

The regular weekly meeting of the city council will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the city hall.

TO CLEAN WINDOWS

The three stained glass windows in the south corridor of the court house are being treated to the first cleaning since they were put in place. Each of the windows is being removed and the glass is cleaned with a buffing process and then replaced. It is the plan to have ventilators installed in two of the windows.

JULIAN GIVES TREES

Another fine donation toward the Dixon Beautiful movement was announced this morning when Michael Julian added to the list of trees in the court house square. The donor's plan is for the planting of four large mountain ash on each of the four corners of the square surrounding the court house and he has offered to donate and plant the trees without expense to the county or city, provided that they are acceptable.

ACCUSED OF FORGERY

A Dixon woman who this morning went to the court house to secure a divorce from her husband, was being questioned at noon concerning the passing of a forged check for $25, which she said to have passed before going to the court. Charles Andres, one of the caretakers at the court house, name was signed to the check and constituted the alleged forgery. The young woman went to an accessory store and purchased a small article and gave the check for $25 in payment. She received the change and then proceeded to the court house for her decree of divorce. When being questioned, she stoutly denied having passed the check even after two witnesses had identified her, and as she continued to deny the allegation, the article which had been purchased fell on the floor, it was stated.

TODAY'S MARKET REPORTS

Wheat Prices Kept Down in Day Trade

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor.
Chicago, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Predictions of heavy selling pressure soon unless export business in wheat from North America quickly broadens out tended today to keep wheat prices down. Today's European demand for wheat lacked volume again, whereas receipts of new wheat in Canada were the largest of the season, and auspicious harvest weather was continuing. Farmers' deliveries at interior points in the Canadian prairie provinces are totaling around 7,000,000 bushels per day. Corn went lower with wheat and as a result of favorable weather for maturing the new corn crop throughout the west.

Wheat closed easy, at 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 net decline, corn 1/4 to 1 1/2 down, oats 1/2 to 3/4 off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 30c.

Worst in 27 years

"I have lived in Florida since 1901 and this is the worst I have ever seen," said Sheriff R. C. Baker of Palm Beach county, after an inspection trip. The Sheriff said in his opinion a conservative estimate of property damage in West Palm Beach alone would be $10,000,000.
"The business section virtually is a wreck," he declared. "There isn't a building in the city which escaped damage. It is as bad if not worse than what hit Miami."
Mr. Baker attributed the small loss of life to people being prepared for the storm.
"Those who did not seek strong shelter were ready to run for it as the first sign of danger appeared," he said. "There was but little, if any, moving around during the lull between the first storm and the back lash."
No Water, Lights, Gas
There was no water, lights or gas in the city. The sheriff was advised yesterday that looting had developed in one of the suburbs of West Palm Beach.
He also was told by officials of Lake Worth, an adjoining town, that "troop protection was needed." Lake Worth officials described conditions as "deplorable."
A large supply of drinking water was brought on a relief train from Miami.

ago was present and conducted the questioning. All of the applicants were well qualified to answer questions, but a number of amusing answers were forthcoming.
One applicant, when asked concerning his views of polygamy told the examiner that one wife was too much some times.

Another answer to a question as to who was the sheriff of Lee county and what are his duties, replied that Ward Miller was sheriff and he waited around for some one to break the law, then got them. All of the class were admitted.

ONE OF FIRST ON JOB

State Highway Officer Hal Roberts of this city was among the first of the Illinois police to be on the scene at the Rockford hurricane Friday afternoon. He was enroute to Elgin at the time and was passing through Rockford when the twister began its work of devastation. Officer Roberts witnessed much of the destruction in the few minutes and then followed an ambulance to one of the wrecked factory buildings where he assisted in removing dead and wounded workmen.

Later National Guardsmen arrived and other state highway police were dispatched to the scene. The highway police remained until Sunday night when many of them were relieved and sent home for a rest after working steadily from Friday afternoon until Sunday night. Officer Roberts returned home late Sunday night after passing through one of the greatest experiences of his life.

of 230,000 of the island, and that the town had been devastated and the suburbs completely wiped out. When the wreckage is cleared away, the deaths may be found to be greater than estimated by the governor on his first survey.

Many villages also have not yet been reached by courier and all other communications have been silent.

Tidal Wave Severe
A tidal wave struck Bourg, leveling it. Twenty-eight persons were trapped there and perished.

The island dependencies were also hard hit. On the island of Marie Galante which has a population of 20,000, almost all houses collapsed with a resulting toll of human lives.

Great Britain's possession in the West Indies also were hit by the gale. The Leeward Islands reporting a death toll of 44.

Montserrat reported 25 dead and 50 injured. Medical stores, food and clothing were being sent there from Antigua which reported no loss of life.

On St. Kitts (St. Christopher's) six persons perished. At Base Terre on that island the property damage was estimated at $500,000.

Thirteen dead were reported from Nevis. The seafarers at Dominica

CRYSTAL BOWLS
Earthen bowls are beautiful, colorful and very fine; But I shall not buy again An earthen bowl for mine.

Clear bright crystal they shall be, Clear as echoes and as thin, Where the flower stems will show When I put them in.

Where the floating leaves will catch All the light within a room, Stems of flowers are as brave As the bravest bloom.

Leaves in water—stems through glass, Sprays of blossoms from a tree— Crystal bowls are lovelier Than jewels are to me.
—Grace Noll Crowell, in "Silver in the Sun."

Popular Young Dixon Man Married Today

This morning at 10:30 at the manse, 316 E. Third street, the pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, Dr. J. Franklin Young, performed the wedding ceremony which united the lives of Ralph Salzman, and Louise B. Adams of Cedar Bluffs, Neb.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Salzman, parents of the bridegroom were the only witnesses at the quiet wedding, and afterward the young couple motored to the Colonial Inn at Grand Detour where they enjoyed a wedding breakfast.

Mr. Salzman is a valued employee in the auditing department at the offices of the Illinois Northern Utilities Co. He is an Elk and a member of the local lodge.

Mr. Salzman is a valued employee in the auditing department at the offices of the Illinois Northern Utilities Co. He is an Elk and a member of the local lodge. The bride during her brief stay in Dixon when she managed the millinery department at the Howell-Page store, made many friends here. Her wedding gown was of lovely white crepe, trimmed with white lace. Her only ornament was a string of pearls.

POINTERS FOR PARENTS

DANGERS OF BEING AFRAID

By Mrs. Agnes Lyne
There are some people who always seem to expect the worst. There is the man who fails to take advantage of a business opening for fear of losing the security of his present job. There is the woman who has never learned to swim and who won't go out in a canoe because she is sure she would never get back alive. These people find that life is hard and that good things always seem to pass them by.

Many factors may have gone into the making of such personalities, but the most common cause of ever-present fearfulness is found in the atmosphere of danger with which some children are impressed every day of their lives.

From morning till night they are warned: "Don't run down that hill; you will fall and hurt yourself." "Better not touch that knife; you will cut your finger." "You mustn't handle that money; there may be dreadful disease germs on it." To the suggestible child it must appear that everything he wants to do will hurt him or make him sick.

Of course children must be taught proper caution with regard to such things as crossing the street, handling matches and knives, or playing near the edge of deep water. But the number of dangerous situations to which a child is exposed should be reduced to a minimum so that he will have to bear the "don't" of caution as little as possible.

MOTORED TO ROCKFORD SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Clark and Miss Ethel Fuller motored to Rockford Sunday and then to Roscoe, accompanied by the Carl Barrus family from there they motored to Beloit, Wis., where they visited at the Oliver Hubbard home, cousins of Mrs. Clark.

A MAYOR'S PAINED SURPRISE.

The Philadelphia mayor's sudden expression of surprise and horror at the grand jury's revelations of booze and vice activities in that city, and his order to the police to clean up the town in 24 hours, do not, somehow, ring quite true.

Mayor's are put into office to know what is going on in their cities and to see to it that lawlessness is suppressed. A man who can serve as mayor of America's third largest city for many months without once suspecting that there is any bootlegging, graft or crime in his bailiwick is, perhaps, to be envied for his childlike, unsuspecting trust in a naughty world; but the city that elected him may be pardoned if it fails to believe that he is quite so unsophisticated as his protestations make him appear.

To announce a sweeping investigation, and to promise that the trouble would be eradicated even if it took months of hard work, would not sound so bad; but to express pained surprise and promise to remedy matters overnight—well, as we said, it just doesn't ring true.

91 MILES AN HOUR BY BOAT.

It is rather astounding to read that George Wood of Detroit has succeeded in piloting a speed boat along the water at the amazing speed of 91 miles an hour.

That is about as risky a pastime as one could undertake. To meet an accident at such speed would surely be fatal. A man thrown from a boat would be crushed by his impact with the water just as quickly as he would if he fell from a speeding automobile onto a cement pavement. A floating bit of driftwood could easily cause a tragedy.

To drive speedboats at that rate calls for a high degree of daring. To be sure, it is hard to see how any utilitarian end has been served; but, after all, that may not be important. A man still has a right to risk his life for sport, provided he doesn't imperil anyone else. Mr. Wood deserves plenty of congratulations for his feat.

MORE SIGN BOARDS.

It is said that there is a plan to erect more advertising billboards on highways approaching Dixon, and so the scenery in this neighborhood will be further disfigured. What we need is fewer sign boards instead of more of them.

The campaign against the bill boards that clutter up the landscape has been successful in some localities where the users of outdoor advertising have realized that the growing sentiment against such bill boards has made the advertising of very doubtful value.

The Tammany candidate for President has talked a lot about what he accomplished in reorganizing the government of New York State. The truth is, however, women who work in factories and stores, and men employed at everything from swinging a pick to "slinging ink," do not give a tinker's dam whether he reduced the clerks in one state department or advanced those in another. If they do give it a thought they must admit he staggeringly increased cost of running the state's business. He did that all right and New York State taxpayers, particularly the farmers, know he did, it "good and proper."

It is notable that the Democrats are not trying to sell the "poor boy" stuff in this campaign. They know Hoover and Curtis were just as poor as Smith was and, when it comes to real accomplishments, Hoover and Curtis have it to their credit in the national and international fields.

Senator Capper says the farmers in the West laugh heartily at the thought of Tammany being anxious to help the farmer. He says it is equally as funny as Tammany denouncing corruption in public life.

The fact that Herbert Hoover is not forced to explain what he has done in the past permits him to say what he is going to do in the future and have it carry some weight.

It used to be said honesty is the best policy, but nowadays it is also accepted as good business. There is no doubt about it and that is why it was good business to nominate Herbert Hoover.

Gene Tunney is the most cultured American who ever visited the library of Trinity College, Dublin according to the librarian. Wonder why more cultured Americans haven't visited there.

THE TINYMITES
STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KNICK

The little kittens all sat still, and one said, "We will wait here till you try and find our mittens. May you meet with good success. We lost them while upon a roam, and now we're scared to go back home. Our mother would be very mad, and spank us all, I guess."

"Now, don't you worry," Clowny said. "Before it's time to go to bed, I'm sure that Scouty will return and bring you all good cheer. Wee Copy sure will lend a hand, and Carpy, too. That will be grand. While they are all out looking, I believe that I'll stay here."

Then Copy said, "We might have known that you would want to stay alone, and let the rest of us go out. You're lazy as can be." Then Scouty smiled, and broke right in. "Oh, what's the difference. Let's begin our search for their small mittens. Come on there, Tinymites, with me."

The three then scampered over the ground, while Clowny very shortly found that all the little kittens were just full of play and fun. One of them said, "So time don't drag, let's have a little game of tag." And then it touched wee Clowny, and mid shouts began to run.

"Ha, ha!" laughed Clowny, "I'll get you," but found it rather hard to do. The little kitten scampered up a tree, high in the air. Poor Clowny! He was fooled this time. The tree was much too big to climb. He stood and looked a moment. Then he said, "That isn't fair."

Just then they heard a merry shout, and wondered what 'twas all about. They looked and saw kind Scouty, and the other Tinies, too. Soon Scouty cried, "We've traveled far, and found your mittens. Here they are. Now you won't get your spankings, 'cause we've brought them back to you."

(A pig gives the Tinies a good laugh in the next story.)

Hoover Good American
G. M. Will Make Them
Religion Gives Peace, Science, Wealth, Knowledge.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

President Jordan, president emeritus of Stanford University, is for Hoover, whom he describes as earnest, brilliant, possessing knowledge; that the country needs a good American.

What is a good American? Herbert Hoover's name is a good answer. He is a good American, has proved it, and his Americanism is based on experience. He has traveled widely over the world, exercising his profession as an engineer, in China, in Europe. And where he went, he succeeded.

In his visits abroad Herbert Hoover learned as Benjamin Franklin did, in France and in England, just why this is the best country, why Americans are fortunate in being born Americans. He doesn't have to guess about it. He knows.

Born in the West, Mr. Hoover studied in California, which has been his residence for a great many years. He went abroad as seafaring captain, went in the old days of American shipping as an engineer, because that was his profession. The more he saw of other countries, the better American he became.

Herbert Hoover, as head of the Department of Commerce, attacked please Britain. But it was a good thing for the United States, and it showed the sort of American that Hoover is.

Mr. Hoover's work in dealing with the Mississippi disaster, which President Coolidge intrusted to him, was that of a profoundly learned and unselfish man, willing to sacrifice comfort, time and energy to hard work in great emergency.

Mr. Hoover understands great national improvements that the country needs, Boulder Dam, canals from the Great Lakes to the ocean and gulf. And he would be able to do the work that the country needs done.

Herbert Hoover, when he talks about America, knows what he is talking about. When he talks of other countries, informing American business men as to opportunities for selling American goods abroad, he is discussing matters that he understands. Thousands of business men will testify to the good that Mr. Hoover has done as the head of the Department of Commerce.

An overwhelming majority of those that voted for President Coolidge, electing him with millions of votes to spare, would like to vote for him again, since he has only been elected once and would be running for a second, not a third, elective term, in 1932. But the President has decided, and millions that know they cannot have Coolidge will be delighted to have Hoover, a good American.—Boston American.

OUTLOOK STATE INDUSTRIES IS MUCH BRIGHTER

Gains in Employment and in Payrolls is the Report for September

Chicago — (AP) — As reflected in payrolls and employment bureau information, the industrial outlook in Illinois continues to improve, the monthly industrial review of the state department of labor, prepared by Chief of Statistics Sidney W. Wilcox, said today.

Further gains were reported from farm implement factories and additions have been reported by automobile manufacturers. The coal mining situation continues to improve and has already helped reduce the extent of unemployment. The agricultural employment situation has been good, although some unemployment is to be expected now that wheat harvest is complete.

The report by cities follows: AURORA—The employment situation continued to improve because of continued activity in metal plants and in the surrounding agricultural districts which have been busy engaged in threshing. As a result the unemployment ratio of the free employment office has declined from 137 in July to 130 during the past month. Despite the general improvement, however, total employment in factories has declined largely because of large layoffs in the textile lines. Metal factories continue to be busy, it is shown in payroll reports, which indicate both increased schedules and some additions to the working forces. While building activity is continuing strong, the prospects as indicated by permits are that contractors will shortly experience a decline in the demand for their services.

BLOOMINGTON — Employment conditions in Bloomington have been particularly good during August, increases taking place in all leading lines. There is a strong likelihood that farm workers will not be laid off for long, however, because the harvesting of an unusually good corn crop will soon necessitate the hiring of a large number of huskers. Of the manufacturing lines which have made an unusually good showing machinery factories and farm implement establishments stand foremost. The present movement is a reversal of the experience of August, 1927, although in line with increases of previous years. The free employment ratio indicates that the extent of unemployment is less than last year.

CHICAGO—Employment increased one per cent, owing to considerable additions of metal plants working forces. Other leading groups, including printing, men's clothing and meat packing have reported reductions. The present gain is in line with the August movement in previous years. Unemployment has declined during August, and is now less than it was a year ago. The free employment ratio for the past month was 149, compared with 178 in July, and 189 in August 1927.

CICERO—A sharp upturn in factory employment held up the industrial outlook in Cicero. Better factory conditions are due largely to a further pickup in the metal industry. The free employment office reports 183 applicants for every 100 jobs, compared with 211 in July and 200 in August, 1927.

DANVILLE—Increased demand for workers by road and bridge builders and absorption of hundreds of workers by the pea canning industry have been two outstanding events in the Danville employment situation. Demand for harvest hands has now practically ceased. Employment in factories has shown no consistent upward or downward movement, iron foundries reporting reductions and brick yards gains. The free employment bureau ratio is practically unchanged.

DECATUR—A two per cent gain in factory employment and a decline in the free employment ratio from 151 in July to 133 in August point to improved industrial situation. Industries in which outstanding pickups were reported are women's dress factories and automobile equipment manufacturers. Building permits indicate a decline in future activity, but present operations continue to be pushed ahead at a rapid rate and are using many men. Due to completion of the harvest, demand for agricultural workers has slackened.

EAST ST. LOUIS — Employment followed its usual downward trend falling off 3.6 per cent, with reductions of working forces in all leading lines, including packing, and metal products. Repairing of tracks by street car companies and building activity were helpful in relieving unemployment due to factory layoffs.

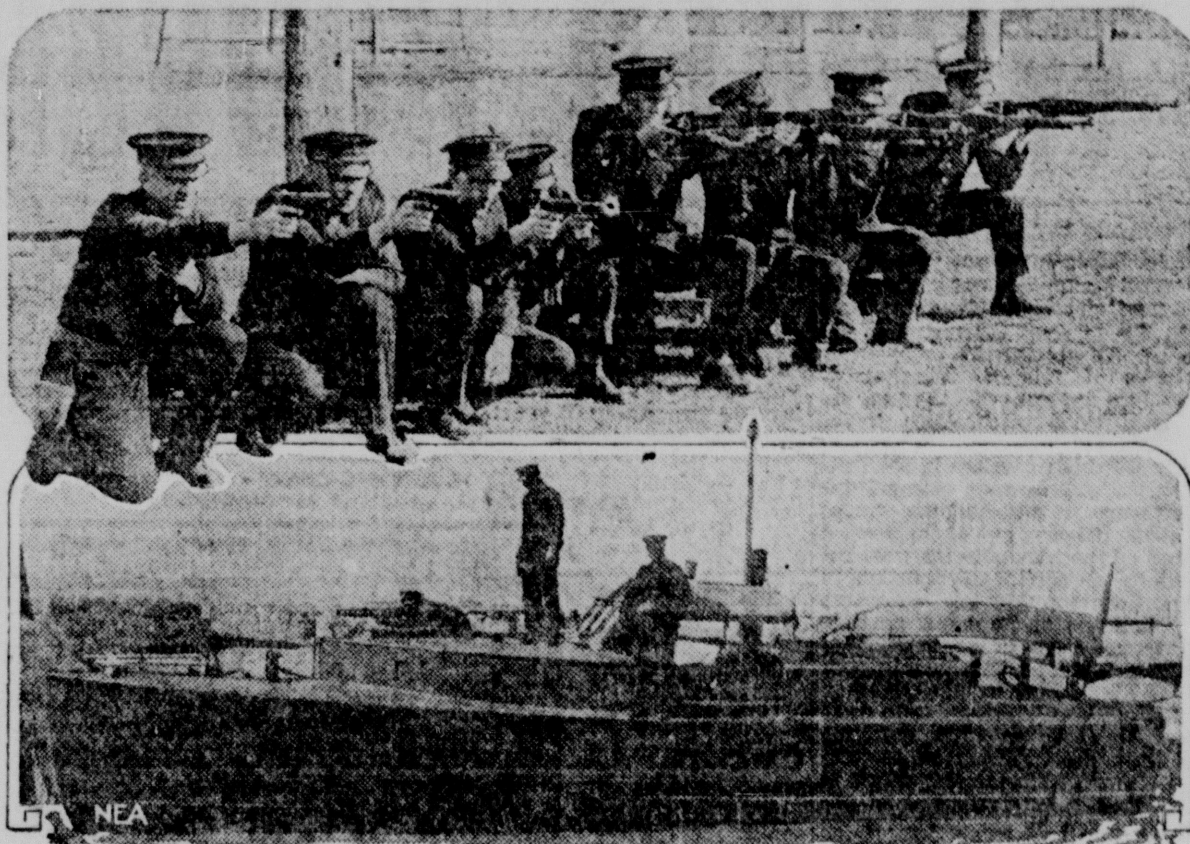

JOLIET—Reports fail to show any central upward, or downward movement. Factory employment scored a 2.3 per cent gain, and other lines showed a slight change. The free employment ratio increase from 126 in July to 130 in August. Building permits show a falling off. With harvest near completion, a slackened demand for farm help has become apparent.

MOLINE-ROCK ISLAND — Employment improved and information indicates that employment is again picking up in the large agricultural implement establishments in this locality. There has been one notable reduction however. While the automobile accessory industry is not fully represented, the reports received by the bureau indicate a falling off in employment. The extent of unemployment is less than either a month or a year ago.

PEORIA — Employment conditions are slightly less favorable, it is shown in both the free employment office index and the reports from leading manufacturers. The present falling off of factory employment is a reversal of last year's movement, although there have been a number of August declines in recent years.

They Fire 'Dry' Shots Heard 'Round the World

U. S. coast guardsmen of the Lake Erie gun-chasing fleet are shown above as they indulge in a little gun practice at the Marblehead coast guard station. The coast guard cutter pictured below is the type of gun chaser which has fired on several private craft. City councilmen of Toledo and other cities along the lake have protested.

report an addition of 5.3 per cent to working forces. Leather products establishments and printing shops led in the pickup which was supported by metal factories. The free employment ratio is comparable with those of a month ago, although improved over August, 1927.

ROCKFORD—Shortage of machinists, moulders, tool makers, hammer-smiths and patternmakers developed in Rockford as a result of industrial expansion. Fifty leading factories owners representing all leading lines, reported 3.4 per cent more workers. The free employment office reports indicate that jobs have been easier to get in that office than in any other in the state. The present upward movement in furniture prospects are very good for the coming winter.

SPRINGFIELD—While payrolls of the majority of reporting firms show only slight changes, two outstanding differences appear which affected a considerable number of workers. Because of changes to be made in a metal products factory 264 workers have received a temporary lay-off and in another establishment 808 employees have returned from vacation. The coal mining situation has continued to improve.

STERLING-ROCK FALLS—A gain of 5.7 per cent in the volume of factory employment is noted, a large share of which is attributed to the metal groups, which comprise a large part of the industrial community.

Watching the Big Scoreboard

BY HERBERT W. BARKER (Associated Press Sports Writer) With their closest rivals hanging on like grim death itself, dreams of dire disaster haunt the managerial bed-chambers of Bill McKechnie and Miller Huggins.

Bill has his St. Louis Cardinals at the top of the National League standing and Miller, if he keeps his eyes on the level or slanted upward, can see nothing to rival his New York Yankees in the American League, but their advantage is so small as to make untroubled sleep a thing impossible.

It looks now as though neither is to get any peace of mind until September 30 when the big league season closes.

Taking advantage of the idleness of their only rivals, the Athletics of Cornelius McGillicuddy yesterday the Yankees pounced on four St. Louis pitchers for 16 hits, enough, it would seem, to account for the 12 to 2 score the champions piled up. Thus the half game margin the Yankees enjoyed before the slaughter at St. Louis began, grew to a full game by the time it was over.

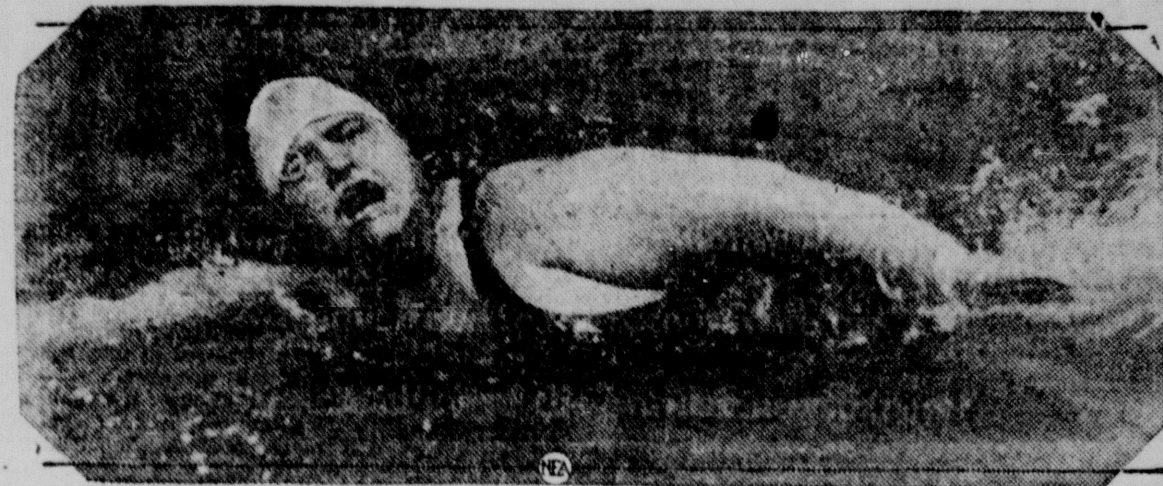

Two other American League engagements saw the Washington Senators trim Detroit, 4 to 3, and move into fourth place when the Chicago White Sox could do nothing with Jack Russell and lost, 6 to 3, to the Boston Red Sox.

But the National League situation remained unchanged when the Cardinals, New York Giants and Chicago Cubs turned in victories. Jim Bottomley's 29th home run with two on in the seventh gave the Cards a 5 to 2 triumph over the lowly Phils.

The Giants remained only two games distant from St. Louis by losing the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9 to 2, in the second game of the series.

The Cubs trounced Boston, 15 to 5, to retain their third place position, a game and a half behind the Giants. Five pitchers saw service for the Braves and a wild and wooly game became somewhat ludicrous when Ray "Lefty" Boggs, last Boston hurler, appeared on the scene in the ninth inning. He allowed one hit, walked one man, hit three more and made two wild pitches during his tenure of office.

A five run rally in the eighth gave Brooklyn a 7 to 3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds, evening the series at one victory apiece.

PICK WINNERS IN FLOWER SHOW AT POLO'S FESTIVAL

Exhibitors in Woman's Club Affair Given
Highest Praise

Polo—Rain, which fell early Friday morning and again about noon, spoiled the decorations of many of the booths which were on exhibition at the Fall Festival.

The flower show in the basement of the Town hall attracted a great deal of attention. Mrs. William L. Karcher of Freeport, judge of this section, remarked upon the unusually large variety of flowers shown.

The awards were given as follows: Most artistic table bouquet, consisting of one variety of flowers, Mrs. Jane Stauffer, first and Mrs. Fred Lindemann, second.

Most artistic display of mixed flowers for table, Mrs. William T. Schell, first, and Mrs. Ira Frey, second.

Most artistic living room bouquet consisting of one variety of flowers, Mrs. S. D. Houston, first, Mrs. Walter Bingham, second.

Most artistic living room bouquet consisting of mixed flowers, Mrs. Dorothy Hurdle, first; Mrs. Jane Stauffer, second.

Best exhibit of perennials by one person, William Unger.

Wall pockets, Mrs. Fred Lindemann, first; Mrs. W. T. Schell, second.

Best bouquet, judged according to artistic arrangement, and perfection of bloom of the following:

Roses—Miss Della Miller, first; Mrs. Clara Peat, second.

Zinnias—Mrs. George Read, first; Mrs. Hupke, second.

Dahlias—Mrs. Floyd Davis, first; Mrs. William Unger, second.

Marigolds—Mrs. Geo. Read, first; Mrs. A. J. Deuth, second.

Large Marigolds—Mrs. Harry Winter, first; Mrs. William Forsythe, second.

Petunias—Miss Mary Hammer, first; Miss Eleanor Dummer, second.

Snap Dragons—Miss Josephine Lindemann, first; Mrs. George Miller, second.

Gaillardias—Miss Mary Hammer, first; Mrs. George Miller, second.

Gladioli—Gavin Walker, first; Mrs. L. R. Ziegler, second.

Scabiosa—Mrs. W. T. Schell, first; Mrs. Jane Stauffer, second.

Sunflowers—Men's Bible class, M. E. church, first; Joseph Dreihelm, second.

Straw flowers—Mrs. Harry Ruben- cahl, first; Mrs. A. J. Deuth, second.

Daistics—Mrs. Frank Dockery, first; Mrs. Clara Peat, second.

Cosmos—Mrs. Clara Peat, first; Mrs. Lewis Moats, second.

Coxcomb—Mrs. G. M. Miller, first; Mrs. A. Getzenbacher, second.

Pansies—Mrs. Walter Bingham, first; Mrs. S. D. Houston, second.

Nasturtiums—Mrs. Ray Hammer, first; Mrs. Harry Winters, first; Miss Della Miller, second.

Chrysanthemums—Mrs. Jane Stauffer, first.

Any flower or shrub in a container, Japanese arrangement, Mrs. W. Bingham, first; Mrs. R. M. Brand, second.

Most artistic bouquet of wild flowers, entered by school boy or girl, Judith Brand, first; Austin Stahler, second.

Most artistic center piece suitable for Thanksgiving, Halloween, or mixed fruits—Mrs. Ray Hammer, first.

Mixed vegetables—Mrs. Dave Shope, first.

West Rex Begonia—Mrs. Bert Coffman, first.

Best Begonia, other than Rex—Maggie Beck, first.

Best Coleus Plant—Miss Mary Hammer, first; Clarence Brown, second.

Largest and finest display of coleus in one container—Mrs. Walter Bingham, first.

Prizes were given not only by the Woman's club, but by many outsiders interested in flower gardens. Without doubt, another year Polo will boast of a garden club as more and more persons are becoming interested in raising better flowers and plants, it is said.

The dance of Friday night closed the two-day celebration.

Jordan—Harold Dean assisted Walter in filling his silo Thursday and at night attended the Fall Festival at Polo.

Ben Smith was in Dixon Sunday.

Nelson Jacob spent Friday in Polo. Henry Hoak and Arthur Unkenen filled their silos this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McDowell visited Douglas Deyo Sunday morning.

Henry Hoak had a load of feed ground at the Hazelhurst mill Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Williams motored to Rockford Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary Sunday.

Howard Franklin had the misfortune of getting a leg broken while working in a gravel pit recently.

Extra Long and wide returned home last week from Lancaster, Pa.

Douglas Deyo and Edgar Frazer called on H. B. Rucker Friday afternoon.

SAYS EARTH HAS CHANCE TO LAST 100,000,000 YEARS

Former President of Wisconsin University in Commentary

Chicago.—(AP)—Earth has "a chance" to last a hundred million years to come, Dr. Thomas C. Chamberlin, dean of American scientists, eminent geologist, and former President of the University of Wisconsin re-affirmed as his belief, on his 63th birthday anniversary here.

Ideas of this contemporary of Charles Darwin regarding Earth's prospects, the future of men, war and peace and the University of Chicago will be detailed at length by J. V. Nash in the forthcoming September issue of The Open Court, a philosophical magazine, published at Northwestern university.

"Professor Chamberlin's pioneering researches half a century ago," Mr. Nash wrote, "gave us the story of the great Ice Ages in North America, but he is more widely known as the co-discoverer of the Planetsimal hypothesis which during the last twenty-five years has largely supplanted, both in America and abroad, the Laplacian and other theories concerning the origin of the earth and the development of the solar system."

Awarded a gold medal at the Paris exposition of 1878, in recognition of his discoveries, Dr. Chamberlin has since continued investigating new problems involving the interior structure of the earth. He summarized his latest investigation as follows:

"The interior of the earth is no longer a realm of darkness and mere speculation. Three lines of specific evidence now penetrate it. While their full import is not yet at command, important light has already been shed on the tectonic or architectural state of the interior. The earth is a heterogeneous elastic solid, inclosed in a riveted jacket which has been for ages forming about itself from worn and weathered surface material reshaped and bound together from exudations from within. The continents stand on solid (elastico-static) foundations. The earth is better organized and stronger today than ever before, and the reorganizing processes show no signs of exhaustion."

Regarding the future, he said, "present geological conditions are likely to last for hundreds of thousands, more likely millions—possibly a hundred million years yet to come. So I said we have a chance. We might possibly commit suicide one way or another, and that will be the end of it. But we have a chance."

Dr. Chamberlin is the son of a preacher. "It is among my theological dogmas," he said, "that the optimist and the pessimist are both fools, but that the optimist is the more comfortable fellow of the two, and I am an optimist—on the whole. That is to say, I do not believe that the whole thing is going right, and I do not think the whole thing is going all bad. I never could accept the doctrine of total depravity. On the whole, the system, as I see it, taking the heavens and the earth and all that is in the earth together, is working towards order and towards efficiency, and the amount of wastage, irregularity, of disorder, is relatively small."

"There may be more devils than saints in the world," he said later, "but the devils die before the saints—they commit suicide. It is a fundamental principle of mine that the devil is a fool. He would not be a devil if he were not a fool. While he is acting smart and seems to be bright, he is playing the fool all the time. He ought to get in accord with things—in harmony with the system."

Regarding the University of Chicago, where he has spent more than thirty years of his life, Professor Chamberlin said:

"I think the University is moving right along in general on lines of the very best kind. I think it is a great godsend to the state institutions that are growing up all about it, for an

News From Grid Camps of Large Schools of West

Chicago, Sept. 18.—(AP)—In search of a great passing and kicking combination approaching the Friedman-Oosterbaan, Gilbert-Oosterbaan duos of past seasons, the martial figure of Fielding Yost has returned to Big Ten football.

Last season, Yost turned the coaching task over to Tad Weiman, but with the passing of Gilbert and Oosterbaan, together with many other veteran campaigners, the outlook for a victorious Maize and Blue machine was black and he volunteered his services.

At the second day of practice yesterday, Yost spent his energy and time in quest of a passer and a receiver, while Coach Weiman and his assistants worked at other departments. The squad has mounted to 85. McCoy, captain of the varsity basketball team, is out for the team and has shown adeptness in catching passes.

The first casualty of the Big Ten practice season occurred yesterday when "Lefty" Carter of Rockford, Ill., who has been regarded as a great prospect for either backfield or line duty on Northwestern's eleven, broke his collar bone while making a tackle. Carter will be lost to the Purple for the season.

Mutuals with three singles, blanking them in every inning and checking their only threat in the seventh.

It was Burns' first defeat of the loop season, and it came like a bolt out of the sky. Polo clinched the decision at the outset, scoring two runs in the first, five more in the second and coasting the rest of the way by picking up another in the fourth.

Bowman was supreme in the big pinch in the seventh. Pocus of the Mutuals singled and stole second. Pope walked and Knopp struck out. Then the Polo pitcher hit Thornbloom to fill the bases. In this crisis Bowman whiffed Belter and did the same to Manager John Dziak.

In winning the battle Bowman struck out eight; while Burns' usual strike-out record of ten was cut to six by the Polo boys who solved his delivery for eight hits bunched with four Rockford errors.

A walk, a sacrifice, McCall's single, Oberheim's fly and Johnson's double accounted for the first two runs. The five-run spurge in the second came after two were out. Lonkowski's error followed by three single and a double, mixed with another error and a base on balls, decided the issue.

McCall's double, an error, sacrifice, wild pitch and Johnson's sacrifice fly brought in the eighth tally in the fourth. Score: Mutuals 000 000 000—0 3 4 Polo 250 100 00x—8 8 1

POLO DFEATED MUTUALS; WON LEAGUE CROWN

Bowman Held Rockford
Sluggers Helpless
in Sunday Game

Polo—Baseball's well-planned dope sheet was tossed aside for nought here Sunday. Polo's gritty underdogs, first half winners in the Black Hawk league turned the trick, tore the sheet and with it the unexpected feeble challenge of the powerful Rockford Mutuals—taking a great 8 to 0 victory in the final game of the play-off series.

The Mutuals, last half winners with eight straight triumphs, favored to win at ease met their first setback last Sunday when they lost in the first game of a double-header that opened the play-off series. The Rockford nine then came back with Eddie Burns on the mound to win the second and even the series.

Burns, leading the hurler of the league, was on the mound again yesterday, but his presence was overshadowed by the performance of Ted Bowman, who turned back the

to Win American
Courts Title

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Wearing the championships of both the United States and France, Henri Cochet, one-time ball boy on the courts of Lyons, today was sitting on top of the tennis world.

His hard-earned victory over Francis T. Hunter yesterday in the finale for the American title rounded out a season's record more impressive than any other tennis player can produce and gave little Henri a perfect claim to ranking as the number one player of the world. Not even his fellow "Musketeeer" Rene LaCoste, who was given the first place rank last year, has matched the 1928 accomplishments of Cochet, champion of two of the three great tennis playing nations, hero of the Davis Cup challenge round, and victor over America's first two-ranking players, Bill Tilden and Hunter.

To score the latest in this unmatched succession of triumphs, Co-chet had to come from behind against one of the greatest last-ditch fighters in any line of sport. In the final for the United States crown yesterday, Cochet dragged two of the first three sets, and then, in the emergency produced a flashing brand of net play which enabled him to sweep the two deciding sets for the match by scores of 4-6, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3.

This conquest left the French supreme, holders of all the international tennis laurels worth trying for.

Talbot, dean, says the object is not to make professional cooks of the boys, but "to enable them to take care of themselves after they leave school, as bachelors, or if the wives should be late getting home from the bridge clubs." Here are the boys, busy with their pots and pans.

A NEW VICTORY SIX By DODGE BROTHERS

The DeLuxe Sedan

SMARTER. ROOMIER. MORE COMFORTABLE

With Famed Victory Performance Made Still More Brilliant

Striking improvements in beauty, comfort and roominess, set Dodge Brothers new Victory Six apart as a distinctive and impressively attractive motor car.

Seat dimensions are more generous; cushions deeper and more luxurious; doors higher and wider; and passenger vision materially increased.

New Victory lines sweep gracefully forward to a radiator that expresses new ruggedness and power; and improved fenders further accentuate the vigorous and arresting charm of Victory Six design.

Moreover, new Victory Six construction insures many unique and vital advantages.

The wide Victory chassis frame, flush with the body lines, provides a foundation for the body—which is directly mounted without sills. This remarkable construction lowers the all-important center of gravity, increases the head room, and eliminates the customary body overhang.

And as a consequence, the new Victory grips the road at the curves, travels rough pavement with incredible smoothness, obeys the four-wheel brakes instantly—yet with no discomfort to passengers. And provides a quality of pick-up, flexibility and fast, flashing action that we urge you most earnestly to investigate.

SUNDAY MARKED ANNIVERSARY OF HENRY HANGING

Slayer of Two Hanged in Cambridge September 16, 1881

Cambridge—Sunday marked the 47th anniversary of the first of the only two hangings ever executed in Henry county. On Sept. 16, 1881, occurred the hanging of Clem Gallion for the murder of both Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dilley of Colona.

On the morning of Dec. 11, 1880, people living in the vicinity of Colona were astounded by the news that Thomas Dilley and his wife had been murdered in a most atrocious manner. Thomas Dilley was a farmer living near Colona in the northwest corner of this county, and at the time of the murder there was no one in the house except Mr. Dilley, his wife, and three children, Minnie, Willie and Bertie, aged 13, 11, and 7 years respectively.

Mrs. Dilley, Minnie and Willie had been to a spelling school. Returning home about 10 o'clock they entered for the night as usual. About 12 o'clock Minnie, who was sleeping in the room, adjoining the one occupied by her parents, was awakened by hearing a noise in their room, and rising up in her bed noticed a man standing at the bureau, but, thinking it was her father, went back to sleep. Soon after she was awakened again by the cries of her mother. Calling to her and receiving no answer, she arose and went to their bed and found her father dead and her mother dying.

She then went upstairs and aroused her two little brothers and the three little children walked to the home of Joel Rogers, half a mile distant, and informed him of the tragedy. Mr. Rogers aroused the neighbors and they went at once to the Dilley house. Dilley had been shot in the head and was lifeless. Mrs. Dilley was beaten on the head and lived three days.

Steps were taken to find the murderer. Suspicion pointed to two tramps, Clem Gallion and W. A. Roderick, who had been husking corn for Dilley. Henry Levett of Morrison was going to Clinton, Ia., on business and noticed the news paper dispatches, describing these men and their dress. While he was in the store of D. D. Mitchell at Clinton, Gallion came in and Levett recognized him. He was arrested and brought back to Henry county by C. A. Ball of Geneseo. At the February term Gallion was indicted for murder of Thomas Dilley and Caroline Dilley. The jury, after only two hours' deliberation, returned a verdict of guilty, and fixed the penalty of death. The prisoner was sentenced by Judge Glenn to be hanged on the 16th day of September, 1881.

Members of the jury who convicted Gallion were:

R. J. Hawthorne of Burns township.
Lyman Richards of Yorktown.
Clinton Ague of Munson.
D. L. Cowden of Burns.
C. J. Paden of Woodhull.
John Hopcock of Wethersfield.
John Thorpe of Clover.
A. R. King of Burns.
Cornelius Peterson of Burns.
R. B. Ballard of Cornwall.
Thomas M. Robinson of Weller.
Lucius Turner of Galva.

Sheriff Benjamin Goodell had taken all the precautions that he deemed necessary to secure good order and careful observance of the law in the execution. He had authority for the use of the local militia company. A large force of special deputy sheriffs was also sworn in. These and newspaper correspondents were the only ones admitted to the enclosure besides twelve citizens of the county, public officers, clergymen and physicians named in the statute, all numbering about fifty.

The scaffold was a pine structure built in the jail enclosure. The drop and its fixtures were borrowed from the sheriff of Peoria county. Parts of this scaffold are still in the historical room at the court-house.

At eight minutes past 1 the solemn procession entered the scaffold yard. The prisoner mounted, the scaffold with a firm step, without a sign of fear or emotion. His hands and feet were bound, the noose carefully adjusted by the sheriff and the black cap drawn over the prisoner's face.

Precisely at twenty minutes after 1 the trap was sprung by Sheriff Goodell, the body falling about eight feet, and death ensuing almost without a struggle. Drs. Peck, Newell, Babcock and Long, the attending physicians, reported the rate of the pulse at three minutes after the drop fell, at 36; at five minutes, 123, with slight muscular twitching, at twelve minutes, 48, with two slight efforts at breathing; at fifteen minutes, 17, at eighteen minutes the motion of the heart was hardly perceptible.

R. L. SWINDLER, KNOWN IN DIXON, DIES IN HIS CAR

Heart Disease Snuffs Out
Life of Well Known
La Sallean

Stricken with a sudden attack of heart disease, R. L. Swindler, Sr., 69 years old, of LaSalle, who was well known in Dixon and vicinity, died in his automobile in Ottawa shortly after 11 o'clock Sunday morning. He was an automobile salesman.

Mr. Swindler became ill while enroute from the Henry Waldecker home, Ottawa, to the Waldecker cigar factory on Main street. Upon reaching the north end of the Illinois river bridge, he stopped the car, and apparently was attempting to get out of the auto when death overtook him.

Floyd Gaul, a resident of South Ottawa, observed the parked car while on his way home to lunch, and upon his return noticed that it was still there. As he passed, Gaul saw that there was a man slumped over on the front seat, to all appearances asleep.

Gaul reported the matter to the police station and patrolmen went to the scene to investigate and found the lone occupant of the parked car seated with the door open and one foot extended out through the doorway.

There was every indication that the man was dead, but the police rushed him to the hospital, where a physician was summoned who announced that death had occurred a short time previously.

Formerly of Magnolia
Mr. Swindler, who had been making his home in La Salle, was the owner of a farm near Magnolia, Ill. Sunday morning he drove to his farm, picked some fruit and proceeded to Ottawa for a visit at the Waldecker home, his son, R. L. Swindler, Jr., being the husband of the former Miss Clara Waldecker.

Arriving at the Waldecker home, Mr. Swindler handed the package of fruit to Mrs. Waldecker and inquired where Mr. Waldecker was. Advised that the latter was at his cigar shop, Mr. Swindler said he would drive over. But death prevented him from reaching his destination.

The deceased is survived by two sons, Captain R. L. Swindler of Ottawa, who is a reserve army officer, and Captain Henry Swindler, who is connected with the historical department of the U. S. war department in Washington, D. C. He also leaves a sister, who resides in Minneapolis.

Mr. Swindler was a 32d degree Mason and Masonic lodge will have charge of the funeral services at the Waldecker home, conducted by the Rev. Hugh McWhorter, pastor of Christ Episcopal church of Ottawa. Burial will be made in Magnolia.

Sterling Woman is Hurt in Auto Crash

Byron—Mrs. Roy Burch, Sterling, and her son were severely bruised and cut Sunday when their automobile was struck by a machine driven by R. E. Shely, postmaster of Delmar, Ia.

The accident occurred at Peru and Fourth streets. The Iowa driver is said to have failed to wait until the Burch's machine had passed the corner before driving into the intersection.

Mrs. Burch was driving. Two other sons were in the car, but they escaped injury.

Shely's machine was not badly damaged, but the Sterling woman's car lost a wheel and had to be taken to a local garage before it could be driven home.

Portsmouth, Va.—Flowers here have proven such a traffic hazard that is has been found necessary to remove several beds of carnations from one of the city streets. The tall plants obscured vision at street intersections.

OGLE CO. THIEF BROKE JAIL IN EXCELSIOR, MO.

Gained Freedom While Sheriff Good Was
On Way There

Oregon—George Huston, 18, Excelsior, Mo., alleged leader of a bandit gang that robbed several stores at Rochelle late last March and who led a jail break at the Oregon jail on April 3, was apprehended by Missouri authorities late Friday. During the time that Sheriff Sam Good and State's Attorney Martin V. Peterman were at Springfield obtaining extradition papers Huston escaped from the Missouri bastle, according to a wire received by Sheriff Good Sunday when the officials were about to take a train for Excelsior.

Huston, with two companions, Luther Barbee and Henry Foulk, was captured at the Rochelle Burlington depot on March 29, when an operator, suspecting the group as being gangsters, wired a message to a nearby tower and called the police.

Lodged in the jail at Oregon after having been implicated in several store thefts at Rochelle, Huston is said to have led a jail break when the trio, with Clarence Harrington, Oregon youth held on a charge of having shot his father at their farm home east of town, crept through a defective chimney, climbed over several roofs and escaped.

"Huston Born Gangster," Sheriff Good said. "Huston is a born gangster," Sheriff Good said.

iff Good said today. "His knowledge of jail interiors was uncanny. No one but an expert could have broken through that slight aperture in the chimney of our jail here. We were tremendously disappointed when we learned that the Richmond county (Mo.) jail had failed to hold him."

The clue that led to Huston's arrest was given by Sheriff Good and the local prosecutor, both of whom warned Missouri authorities that the youth would no doubt appear soon in his home town.

3 Leave No Trail
No trace of the other three ever has been obtained by local officers. A particular search was made for Harrington, who crept up to a window at his farm home and shot his father who was sleeping on a davenport in the living room. The youth was arrested and signed a complete confession, throwing himself on the mercy of the courts, but when Huston offered a method of escape from the jail, Harrington was one of the first to follow, according to other prisoners.

Harrington's father has since completely recovered from his wounds.

Eight Year's Toil—Then Stardom!

Marion Nixon—Her dream of eight years realized
NEA (Service Writer)

Hollywood, Calif.—For the last eight and a half years petite Marion Nixon has been dreaming of cinema stardom. The little Superior, Wis., school girl once had grand ideas about becoming a famous stage dancer. She spent many afternoons after school hours taking dancing lessons.

Just after the close of her third year in high school, Marion became sick and was unable to return to school. When she had fully recovered, it was too late to go back to school for that term, so she went to Minneapolis, where she got a job dancing in prologs at motion picture theatres. From Minneapolis she went to St. Paul to appear in other prologs.

Then Marion decided that she would much prefer a screen career to one on the stage. Her vaudeville troupe went to Los Angeles.

In Los Angeles the show failed and the girls found themselves out of a job. Marion became one of that great army of girls who daily went from studio to studio looking for work—dreaming of the day when she would be a star and ride to the studio in her luxurious automobile.

Marion didn't mean a thing to the casting directors then. She was just one of the scores of girls who haunted their offices in search of work. But today her name is blazoned in electric lights everywhere, her salary is that of a bank president and she is just one short step from her goal—cinema stardom.

CRIPPLES DEATH STARTED RACKET PROBES IN PHILA.

Slaying of a Hunchback
Touched Off Grand
Jury's Action

BY JAMES P. KIRBY
NEA Service Staff Writer
Philadelphia, Sept. 17.—The shadow of the diminutive and hunch-backed figure of Hughie McLoon, former mascot of the Philadelphia Athletics and Connie Mack's batboy back in the halcyon days of Eddie Plank and "Home-run" Baker, hangs over Philadelphia's present grand jury investigation of racketeering, gang murders and police collusion.

For it was the racketeer murder of Hughie McLoon, grown to be a cabaret proprietor, that proved the spark that touched off District Attorney John Monaghan's probe. His murder and the avenging murder of Daniel O'Leary only a week later blew off the lid, and thus Hughie McLoon dead is more powerful than ever was Hughie McLoon alive.

For years Hughie McLoon, the hunchback, had been a prominent figure on the fringe of Philadelphia's underworld. Hughie's sporting nature drew him inevitably within that secret sphere where, for one reason or another one's tongue must be kept in leash. He was never a power but he knew a lot.

Hughie was on the edge of the councils of Max "Boo Hoo" Hoff, Philadelphia's underworld king, and well acquainted with the three prominent mobs of racketeers in Philadelphia—the O'Learys, "the Duffys" and "the American Blackies." Each had its gangsters and gunmen, recruited for the incidental work of protecting the racket and enforcing its orders with gun and muscle.

Some say Hughie talked too much, others say there was a girl in the case. The latter story has it that Hughie had trouble with Daniel O'Leary over a girl, a 16-year-old wife who had renounced her husband for the underworld. O'Leary was married and had two daughters, 5 and 7, but that meant nothing.

Murdered in Street
One night a few weeks ago Hughie was escorting some troublesome customers from his so-called cabaret. The alleged drunks may have been decoys, for just as Hughie reached the sidewalk a hail of bullets descended upon him from a large blue sedan. Hughie and two trusted companions fell, but Hughie was the only one mortally wounded.

A cloakroom girl of the underworld resorts telephoned to Magistrate Eddie Carney, Hughie's lifelong friend, that it was the O'Learys who had killed Hughie. She has since changed her story several times. They held a big funeral for the little hunchback. "Boo hoo" Hoff paid all the bills. A woman—still unidentified—dropped flowers on the grave from an airplane.

But underworld justice is swift—and terrible.

Less than a week later five men paid a 5 a. m. visit to an apartment where O'Leary was keeping a rendezvous with his 16-year-old sweetheart. The five men filled O'Leary full of lead as he slept.

Investigation Begins
The avenging of Hughie's murder blew off the lid. Since that day, Philadelphia has seen no quiet and underworld's rulers and certain police officials have been quaking in fear.

Judge Edwin O. Lewis charged the grand jury to begin an investigation into the shootings, among other routine matters. But it was then that District Attorney Monaghan stepped into the picture.

Monaghan began at the bottom and his intrepidity has uncovered to the amazed eyes of Philadelphians a picture of official corruption, organized crime, police conditions as to challenge belief. It includes 20 gang murders in the past year.

Powerful figures in the police department, such as Captain Charles Beckman, head of the detective bureau, were summarily called to explain to the grand jury certain personal transactions as well as official acts of omission and commission. Captain Beckman was later suspended by Mayor Mackey, pending a full investigation.

Gangsters, gunmen, racketeers all, public officials, policemen—none have been spared and the grand jury is in the midst of its second month. Records of corporations in which Hoff was known to be heavily interested financially were seized as were those of public accountants who were engaged in the delicate task of balancing the books for the racket.

Safe deposit boxes in Philadelphia banks in which in one instance Monaghan found records of $500,000 deposits in cash to an official conspicuous in Philadelphia, were seized and investigated. Deposits in Philadelphia banks which Monaghan says must have aroused the suspicion of the banks—nine and one-half millions in another—are being traced. Rumor has it that connection between certain public officials and the racket will be finally established.

"Boo Hoo" Hoff, who according to Monaghan, seemed to have been advised in advance of police activities—whenever there were any—was an important witness. Two of his partners fled to Canada, but Monaghan says he will extradite them.

Monaghan has initiated a series of raids by his own force of county detectives. He insists that the conditions his present investigation have disclosed could not have continued without the knowledge and connivance of the police and therefore he uses his own officers whenever he wants police work done.

Meanwhile, through all these happenings, Mayor Harry A. Mackey attempts to stimulate the police department into action by orders and commands. Mackey and Monaghan campaigned together on a platform to eliminate vice and crime from Philadelphia.

Mayor Blames Butler
The present conditions, Mackey says, are due to conditions which came about under the regime of General Smedley D. Butler, the "fighting marine" who was appointed director of public safety by Mackey's predecessor, Mayor Kendrick. Butler's emphasis upon militarizing the department had the result of demoralizing it and rendering it ineffective, Mackey claims. Butler was removed by Mayor Kendrick, who thereafter appointed George W. Elliott as police director.

Mackey has repeatedly called in his director of safety, Harry C. Davis, and also his high ranking police officers and given vigorous orders to clean up "within 24 hours" and to close every saloon and speakeasy. There are estimated to be 13,000 in the city.

There are those in Philadelphia who see the parting of the ways between Mackey and Monaghan as indicating a determination on the part of each to succeed to the control of the Philadelphia political machine now in danger of passing from the control of William S. Vare, an invalid whose illness is not expected to permit him to again resume active control.

Both deny the implication. Neither has as yet openly directed criticism at the other. Monaghan's criticism

Illinois Briefs

Quincy—(AP)—How the deaf are taught to hear, the dumb to speak and the blind to "see" will be demonstrated at the Illinois Conference on Public Welfare here September 24 to 28.

These projects, as carried out at state institutions for the care of blind, deaf and dumb persons, will be shown in actual practice. The deaf and dumb will hear and speak, and blind will see through their finger tips.

Restoring to deaf persons is done at state institutions through the invention of an Illinoisian. Called the Smith Audio-Controller, the invention is the outgrowth of the radio. It was devised and put into practice by Col. O. C. Smith of Quincy during his superintendency of the Illinois School for the Deaf at Jacksonville.

By utilizing the powerful vibrations set in motion by radio, pupils in a typical school room, to be constructed at the conference, are able to hear their teacher and respond to her. The will appear and behave exactly as a normal class of children, except that they wear headphones and on each desk will be a small "control disk."

The teacher speaks through a variation of the radio microphone and the waves transmit the sound to the students. When they respond to the teacher, they also hear their own voices, thus teaching them to speak euphoniously.

The demonstrations will also show how the deaf are taught to speak by vibrations, gaining an understanding first of rhythm through the piano or drum to which they hold their fingertips, and progressing until they have a sense of time and tone. These simple first steps are evolved until the dumb child learns to control his own voice and speak normally.

A band from the deaf and dumb school, the first of its kind ever to broadcast over radio, will play on the conference program.

Students from the Illinois School for the Blind will demonstrate how the state transforms these people into self-supporting individuals by teaching them trades and vocations. Sightless boys and girls will operate switchboards, dictaphones and typewriters with professional skill, and the methods by which the handicap of blindness is overcome will be shown by the teachers.

One group of the blind students will be basket weavers, under a blind teacher. These students select from the proper racks before them, with almost unerring accuracy, the proper colored straw for their multi-colored baskets.

Other demonstrations of work with the blind will include exhibits showing a study of geography by blind students through raised maps and small pupils learning the appearance of elephants, lions and other animals, they probably will never really see, by the sense of touch.

Dr. R. E. Hieronymus, community adviser at the University of Illinois, is president of the conference.

Springfield—(AP)—While August temperatures were above normal, no excessive temperatures were recorded during the month, said the monthly report on Illinois weather issued today by Clarence J. Root, section director of the U. S. weather bureau, Springfield.

In only two previous Augusts, said the report, has the absolute highest temperature been lower than in the month just passed.

Corn made "splendid progress" and its condition was generally excellent except in some portions of the southern division. There were some dry areas in the central division, notably at Astoria and Springfield, with less than an inch of rain, and some corn was firing. Dry soil interfered with stubble plowing. Conditions were favorable for threshing and this work was nearly completed. Peaches and apples were a good crop in the extreme south.

On only two days did the temperature depart more than 7 degrees from normal. The highest readings ranged from 92 to 99 degrees.

Rainfall ranged from 1 to 2 inches to 6 or seven inches. No serious storm damage was reported.

Chicago—(AP)—State Senator Arthur A. Hoebisch of Brookfield has declared war on motorists who hope to avoid traffic law penalties by the "uncalled for" practice of carrying official stars on their cars.

He promised today to introduce a bill prohibiting the issuing of such stars, at the next session of the general assembly.

"It has been brought out," he said, "that thousands of cars, especially in Cook county, are sporting such courtesy stars. I fail to see why anyone needs or should be granted such a privilege. Police cars, fire trucks and ambulances do not need stars to have the right of way. Certainly, members of the general assembly don't need them and neither do officials or friends of other governmental agencies."

"Believing it only fair to the average motorist and taxpayer that everyone should have equal rights in this respect, I propose to prepare a bill for the next session of the legislature to correct this practice of distributing stars. I feel sure that the people of the county and state will favor such a measure."

The "Stars for cars" act was passed by the last assembly. It authorized the secretary of state to issue two stars to each member of the general assembly. Official stars also emanate from other official sources.

NEW MONEY IS BEING MADE BY U. S. GOVERNMENT

The Actual Production of Smaller Bills is Now
Under Way

The United States Bureau of Engraving and Printing at Washington, has begun the actual production of an entire new issue of paper money, though it will be about a year before it is actually seen in circulation.

A number of radical changes are being made in our currency. In the first place the bills will be one-third less in size, the dimensions are 2 9-16 by 6 1/4. All yellow backs will be discontinued and the new bills will be black on the face and green on the reverse side. All will carry the signature of the Secretary of the Treasury.

The $10 note will have the portrait of Hamilton on the face and the Treasury on the back. The $20 note will have Andrew Jackson on the face and the White House on the back. The $50 note will have Grant on the face and the Capitol on the back. The $100 note will have Franklin on the face and, probably Independence Hall on the back. The $500 note carries the portrait of McKinley, the $1000 note that of Cleveland, the $5000, Madison, and the $10,000, Chase.

The production of the new $1 bills has actually begun. They will not be put into circulation until those of the larger denominations are also completed, and all have been given an opportunity to age properly, and to which in the past has appeared only on the Federal Reserve notes. The following is the description of the new bills.

The $1 note will have the portrait of Washington, as at present. The design will be little changed. On the back will appear, "One" in large letters, to make it hard for the note raiser.

The $2 note will have the portrait of Jefferson on its face and an engraving of Monticello on its back.

The $5 note will have the portrait of Lincoln on the face and an engraving of Lincoln Memorial on the back.

The $10 note will have a picture of Hamilton on the face and the Treasury on the back.

The $20 note will have Andrew Jackson on the face and the White House on the back.

The $50 note will have Grant on the face and the Capitol on the back.

The $100 note will have Franklin on the face and, probably Independence Hall on the back.

The $500 note carries the portrait of McKinley, the $1000 note that of Cleveland, the $5000, Madison, and the $10,000, Chase.

The production of the new $1 bills has actually begun. They will not be put into circulation until those of the larger denominations are also completed, and all have been given an opportunity to age properly, and to be distributed all over the country for simultaneous circulation.

The government expects to effect quite a saving by the new issue of paper money. Its smaller size will result in considerable annual saving in the production, both because of the saving in the amount of the special paper used and in greater speed at which the bills can be produced. The proper aging of the bills before putting them into circulation will add greatly to their life and results in a further saving.

PALESTINE CELEBRATES 3 NEW YEARS ANNUALLY

Jerusalem—(AP)—Under a government degree Palestine will henceforth celebrate three official new year holidays annually.

The authorities recognized a claim submitted by the supreme muslim council that the Mohammedan new year, the first day of the month of Moharrem, should be an official holiday. This usually occurs in June or July.

In addition, the Jewish new year, in September or October, and January 1 are already recognized. The council's demand is thought to have been prompted more by political than by religious motives.

Make This FREE TEST of Better Shaving

IF only all men who read this could make this test today! I have found the way for better, quicker shaving.

Wet the face. Spread Kolax over the beard. Shave. The whole operation is reduced to these three simple steps. No brush. No lather. No soap. A saving of 5 to 10 minutes each time you shave is effected. And each shave improves the skin. Surely these are benefits you should know by test.

A million men now use Kolax. It makes all soap for shaving obsolete. For soap cannot compete with it. Lather seems only to hold the hairs erect. Kolax actually softens. It penetrates. It is absorbed. Each hair instantly swells one-fifth in size. The razor glides smoothly. No pulling. No scraping.

Shave as closely as you choose. No irritation will follow. And use no lotions or hot towels. For Kolax alone provides all treatment needed.

Make this Test Free

Kolax is now made in two forms. Except in one particular they are the same. One is Kolax as now used by thousands. The other is Kolax with menthol added. Some prefer it for the added pleasing tingle to the skin. I ask your help in deciding which is most delightful and refreshing. I invite you to test the new discovery in brushless shaving—quicker, infinitely more pleasant. Mail the coupon below. The test outfit containing two 10-cent tubes (one with—one without menthol) will be sent to you Free and Post Paid. Make this test at once.
